THE SAND FLEA

Billy's tip: My sentimental favorite is the Sand Flea hair jig or the Weedless Sand Flea hair jig (shown below, tied to an "arkie" head). I often use this setup to chase trophy smallmouth in the spring or fall of the year in water temperatures below 55°. Using a 7 foot medium action spinning rod with 6 to 8 lb test line, slowly drag the lure across the bottom, without applying any jigging action to the rod tip. If your wanting to use a trailer, I'd recommend trying the 1/8 ounce, 101 spin frog, the 1/4 ounce or 3/8 ounce #11 pork or a Zoom chunk.

THE MUD FLEA

Billy's tip: The Mud Flea or the Weedless Mud Flea (shown below) are tied similar to a muddler streamer, but with a bulkier tie. The finished jig closely resembles the Goby or Sculpin (minnow). Slowly drag this lure across the bottom, without applying any jigging action to the rod tip. You will notice that the design of this jig will allow it to come through the rocks & bottom structure better.

BUCK & RUBBER

Mutant Flea with Fiber Guard

Billy's tip: The Mutant Flea with Fiber Guard is a combination of deer hair and cut rubber. This jig is excellent for both smallies and largemouth bass. The lure is designed to appear bulky in a compact body. The hair and rubber combination allows this lure to drop slowly down the water column and causes the back or tail-end to lift off the bottom. The deer hair creates additional bouyancy and also helps to retain scent that may be applied.

This jig is just waiting for you to attach a trailer. A good choice is the Bass Pro "Speed-O Craw", (solid body with large flapping claws).

Mutant Flea Jrs with Fiber Guard

Billy's tip: The Mutant Flea Jr. is similar to the Mutant Flea, but it's a smaller version, with a lighter hook. The 1/8 ounce size is excellent for skipping under and around docks.

The larger 3/8 and 1/2 ounce size, with a trailer attached, is great for dragging along the lake or river bottom. The 90° eye allows you to apply a good "hopping" action to the lure.
